DAVE QUICK

Loo Louvre, 1982

Assemblage

30 x 18 x 8 in. (76.20 x 45.72 x 20.32 cm)

| | |
|----------------------------|--|
| Description | Porcelain and plaster figurines, steel plumbing parts, photographs and working electronics with lights in wood box |
| Category | Mixed media |
| Artist Resale Right | Unassigned |
| Catalogue Text | Dave Quick's assemblage Loo Louvre contrasts the highest of human functions – making fine art – with the most basic of human functions – making waste. In such a scenario the Louvre, home to many of the world's greatest artworks, becomes the Loo, where porcelain, clay and plaster figurines reference great works from art history. The "Loo's" plumbing fixtures, displayed alongside the "artworks", could be considered sculptural works themselves. Across the top of the assemblage are four frames of a photograph of the artist from his college days, posing with a urinal and a very large tube of construction venting. The filmstrip style photo gallery juxtaposes the new and controversial art forms of the twentieth century against the traditional art forms recognized by the conventional art establishment. The assemblage's enclosing box , |

though made of rough, unfinished wood, possesses an authentic, golden beauty and adds one more consideration in defining aesthetic integrity. Working light fixtures in the Loo and behind the photos can be turned on and off to provide illumination both literally and figuratively. Please note: photos showing the assemblage with the lights underexpose the golden colored, rough wood edges of the box enclosure. Be sure to view images of the box in proper exposure to understand the true effect of the wood.
